Neil Olson proud owner of Mass. baseball team

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

It's a dream come true. Neil Olson, a trapper and renter of tents from East Bethel, owns a baseball team.

"I was that boy who played baseball downstairs all winter long," Olson said. "I got a base hit on Christmas day once, at Dick Hauser Baseball Camp." That boyhood love never faded. Olson still wants to play ball.

He watched as former teammates went on to the pros. "All the kids I played that wound up playing in the big leagues," he said.

"A boy from Maine's got two strikes against them, the weather and opportunity."

Olson couldn't do much about the weather, but he could create opportunity for young Maine baseball players. Opportunity for them to play and be seen by the big league

Composed of All-American level college players, the NECBL team will play in the baseball hotbed of Lowell coaches and scouts. He set out to have a team to own.

Owning a baseball team is an unusual thing. Most folks think of it in terms of the big leagues, where new ownership must be inherited, purchased as stock in small amounts, or be provided for by extremely deep pockets.

Olson was thinking a little younger. He was thinking of college players, the kids that are going to be the baseball stars of tomorrow. They don't have salaries that could double the budgets of small countries, they're eager to play and prove themselves, and the fans can actually afford tickets to see the games.

Four years of trying, first in Virginia and later in Old Orchard Beach, finally led Olson the New England Collegiate Baseball League (NECBL). In September of 1999, Olson was granted a team franchise in the NECBL. His team would play in Lowell, Mass., a baseball-crazed city with a first-class field, Alumni Field.

And so the Mill City All Americans were born.

Players for the Millies are reommended by coaches and scouts. They are All-American level college kids, with at least one year of eligibility (one year of school) left.

Olson has taken the lessons of teamwork that baseball teaches to heart. According to Tom Hutton, NECBL commissioner, "I've met with Neil several times and have been impressed by the amount of preparation he has put into his ball club. He does not have an extensive collegiate baseball background and has been smart enough to bring talented baseball people on board and then sit back and let them recruit and sign the coaches and players he will need to make his team representative in this highly competitive wooden bat summer league."

The players sign on, without pay,

Proposed rules aim at controlling curb cuts

Supporters hope new ordinance can be put to Bethel voters in June

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel 2003 Committee is proposing the town adopt a unified ordinance regulating driveway entrances onto town roads, or "curb cuts."

A 20-page "Transportation: Access Management Ordinance" has been drafted by committee member Al Cressy and reviewed favorably by the Maine Department of Transportation.

The Bethel Planning Board, MDOT's Regional Transportation Advisory Committee (RTAC) and some private citizens have also provided input on the draft, Cressy said.

The 2003 Committee hopes to convince the selectmen to put the ordinance before voters at Town Meeting in June.

An open forum on the proposal has been scheduled for Tuesday, May 2 at Crescent Park School.

The access management ordinance grows out of Bethel's 1998

Comprehensive Plan, which called for amending the Site Plan Review Ordinance to include access management standards.

According to the committee, the ultimate goal is to keep traffic flowing smoothly and safely on the roads, including arterials, within Bethel, and to help avoid the traffic problems associated with strip development.

Bethel already has some access management language on the books, in both the Site Plan Review Ordinance and the Subdivision Ordinance.

The proposed new ordinance would combine all such language from the two existing regulations into a single ordinance, one the committee says will be easier for developers and the Planning Board to use.

The stipulations of the new ordinance would apply to new businesses.

Couple plans indoor horse-riding arena in West Bethel

By ALISON ALOISIO

A Pennsylvania couple plans to build a 160-by-116-foot indoor horseback riding arena in West Bethel this summer, on 125 acres of land off the Fleming Road.

Susan and Tom Roberti expect to begin construction of the facility in early May. It will be used as a training site for horses shipped here from around the country. The Robertis will also offer riding lessons at what will be known as the Sparrowhawk Mountain Ranch.

Owning such a business, Susan said last week, is "a dream we've always had."

They currently live in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, and own two horses of their own. Susan describes herself as an experienced rider. But, she said, on moving to Maine she will also become a student, under the guidance of trainer and instructor Mary Jani. Jani will be a partner with the Robertis.

The trainer has a large clientele of horses from across the country, Susan said. Some of them will be shipped here for training. No more than a half dozen will be trained at a time, according to Susan.

The riding style, she said, will be "Western, with an English influence." Basic riding skills will be taught.

Susan's specialty will be half-day trail rides for groups of five or six people — adventure rides, she calls them. She plans to keep another half dozen horses on site to be used for the rides. The arena will also house 23 stalls.

The Robertis spent the last year and a half circling the perimeter of the White Mountain National Forest, in search of the perfect spot to start their horse business.

"We wanted a small town, with good schools, near the White Mountain National Forest, with a good ski area," Susan said. "We fell in love with the town (of Bethel)."

They have two children, ages 3 and 9. Tom currently works as a treasury bond trader. They hope to have a grand opening at the ranch in the fall.

Telstar spring sports preview

Baseball

Knowing the Telstar High School baseball team posted a 14-2 record last season, opposing coaches are already penciling in their best pitchers to face the Rebels this year. Despite the formidable pitching, however, coach Ryan Casey is confident his team can earn a berth in the post-season.

The Rebels have three returning starting pitchers, and a total of seven returning starters overall. Only three of them are seniors, however. "We're young, with experience," said Casey.

Joining the varsity for the first time are senior Cooper Willard (utility player), juniors Steve Estes (first base), Alex Johnson (infield), and Dan Zinchuk (infield); sophomore Matt Newell (pitcher, first base); and freshman Wade Osgood (center field, pitcher).

Casey has high expectations for the team. "We should be good. I think defense will be a strong point."

The offense also shows promise, he said. "We've been hitting up and down the lineup," said Casey.

That's not easy to do against the opposition's best pitchers. "The teams are sending their best pitchers against us. We're not going to surprise anyone," he said. The team lost to top Livermore Falls pitcher Travis Dube Friday, 7-3.

The Rebel pitchers had a slow start, thanks to the cold, wet pre-season. While other teams were practicing and playing pre-season games on their fields, the Rebels were still inside, waiting for their field to dry out. For them, pre-season away games were the first chance to get on a field. "Most of the fields we went to were beautiful," he said.

Because of the delay, the Telstar pitchers are still in pre-season condition. "We're a couple innings behind stamina-wise," said Casey.

PLANNING BOARD FACTS

To the Editor:
I have served on both the Greenwood Planning Board and Board of Selectmen and found them to be time-consuming and interesting, but I don't have to read the papers to know the truth about both positions.

Fact one: the chairman does not put in just two hours at 18 meetings; the phone rings until 10 o'clock lots of nights and all weekend long there are site reviews to do on any shore land zoning projects, and so on.

Fact two: Greenwood has nine lakes to protect, Bethel has zero, West Paris has one, Norway has four, Woodstock has parts of four and South Paris has zero.

Fact three: Greenwood has had a problem keeping a Planning Board, because of the time it takes away from the family.

Fact four: I for one, tried along with one of the former chairmen to put an article in to pay the planning board $10 per hour for the hours they were there, and on site reviews.

Marie Bartlett stated in the paper that she was just interested in saving the town money, Hogwash. If she was interested in saving money, there were many other articles we could have saved money on.

In fact, the CEO got a $1,000 raise, so now he gets $2,500 per year. Well, last year he attended six Planning Board meetings, and he is the other half of the Planning Board. So, if you want to calculate it per hour pay it would be $250 per hour last year and $138.89 this year if he makes all the meetings. If he only makes six meetings, then it would be $416.67 per hour, but the smart people know he does more than just go to meetings.

One more thing is the fact that the money that was left over from year to year, lots of years went back into the general fund thus leaving the board with nothing to start with. The past Planning Board worked hard to treat everybody equally, and I would like to add they were the only board in all the surrounding towns that had the foresight to have CMP pay the tree-growth tax on the new transmission line, which only amounted to more than $8,000.

I wish the new Planning Board good luck. They have a lot of work that still needs to be done, from all the junkyards in town to the new subdivisions, comprehensive plan that has to be done soon and all the people that think they don't have to have permits.

Albert Curtis Sr.
Greenwood

THEY'VE BEEN THERE, DONE THAT

To the Editor:

I have been following with great interest the saga of the Greenwood Planning Board. I do not personally know Ms. Laura Melix, but one would think that the duties she described and the board she served with might have been the only ones that ever performed these duties. Well I assure you this is not true. Board members long before her time also fulfilled their duties as a planning board for a lot less money than has been spent in the last few years. Not once was this account "overdrawn."

It was a policy then, and should be now, that one does not spend more than one takes in.

To all of Greenwood's officials, there's an old adage that says, "You might fool part of the people part of the time, but you will never fool all of the people all of the time." Might I suggest everyone take this to heart and stop the boo-hooing. Enough said.

Lloyd "Joe" Cole
former chairman Greenwood Planning Board

FIX THE GRANGE LIVERY STABLE

To the Editor:

On May 2, at 4 p.m. the Woodstock Board of Selectmen will meet at the former Willing Workers Building on the corner of Andrews Road and Route 26.

I would suggest: 1) This is not the proper time to even consider spending money on this newly acquired building; 2) The town should raise the money to repair, paint and fix up the grounds around the Grange Livery Stable.

The town has used this building next to the library for decades. It has deteriorated into a real eyesore. Citizens of Woodstock, if these two buildings were on your property, which would you feel obligated to fix first? They are both in your town.

Curb cuts

nesses (or driveway construction at an existing business) on all roads in the town.

The ordinance would not cover private residences.

The level of detail in the regulations is much higher for construction on arterial roads. Those are identified as routes 2, 5, 26, 35 and 232, and the Sunday River Road and the Bethel Station Parkway.

General Access Management, which applies to projects located on all roads, including local and collector roads, is treated in three pages in the draft plan.

Construction on arterial roads, gets a further seven pages of details.

The draft calls for evaluating new driveways in terms of their distance from existing driveways and intersections, the number of curb cuts per project, and of safe sight distances.

The tables for determining safe

There will be an open forum on the proposed ordinance

Tuesday, May 2 at 7 p.m. at CPS sight distances take into consideration factors such as the volume of traffic expected at the driveway, the speed of traffic on the road, and the grade of the road.

Bennett's would still have passed

The determination of safe sight distances was a matter of controversy recently, as the Planning Board reviewed and ultimately rejected Dwayne Bennett's application for an auto repair garage on Hudson Hill (the rejection was ultimately overruled by the Bethel Board of Appeals, and the application was granted).

Cressy noted that had the road-grade factor been in effect at the time of the garage application, the sight distance required on the uphill side of Bennett's driveway would have been 570 feet (assuming a 6 percent grade).

That's 70 feet longer than required in the existing regulations, Cressy said, but the proposed driveway would still have passed with room to spare.

He said the draft currently being presented to the town has been in the works for a year, and is not a result of the garage controversy.

Tuesday's forum will begin at 7 p.m. Copies of the draft regulation are expected to be available in the Town Office today (Thursday, April 27).

became marketing director for a Penobscot River sports company.

It wasn't long before he realized that referrals to the company via the Internet had tripled in one year. Peters also noticed his company was ending up with thousands of T-shirts that it didn't need at the end of each season.

He devised a plan to market the shirts over the Internet, but the company wasn't interested. "They had information it was not profitable to market over the Internet," he said.

He was still convinced the Internet was the way to go. In early 1999, he began learning everything he could about html, the computer language used to set up web pages. He bought a $9.95 book on the language and spent a lot of time on the phone to his Megalink representative, asking question after question.

"I built a plan to let me stay in the (paddlesport) industry and utilize the Internet," he said.

ePaddler.com was launched in June of last year. Modeled after amazon.com, it served paddlesport dealers and retailers by offering them a central site through which to sell their goods. Since start-up, the site has averaged about 3,000 users per month. Usage has increased by about 20 percent per month since October, Peters said.

The site also offers online communications services, news, directories and classifieds for paddlers. "The classifieds alone have had 20,000 visitors since June," he said.

Peters wasn't done there. He learned that an established paddlesport located in Colorado was up for sale. The company, L'Eau Vive, sells a river rescue rope in a bag called a "Throw Bag," as well as neoprene spray skirts for kayaks. It has in the past brought in revenues of about $120,000 a year, said Peters.

He negotiated a merger with Scott Young, founder of L'Eau Vive, and became president of both companies. Now, he said, when L'Eau Vive customers contact that company over the Internet, they are usually drawn into the ePaddler.com connection as well, multiplying the uses.

Another service now in the works is video downloading of kayaking instruction. For a couple of dollars, said Peters, a paddler can download a video instead of spending much more than that on a book.

Since October, Peters has been working 60 hours a week — the price of success. "I haven't been kayaking since September, and it's killing me," he said.

He expects to hire about four employees late next month to help handle e-mail purchases from retailers and other communications.

"Once I get back to a 40 hour week, I'll be much happier," he said.

But getting to a 40-hour week may also mean pulling up stakes and heading south or west, closer to the centers of paddlesports. North Carolina or Colorado are possibilities. But if the company keeps growing, Peters will also need to find an area with a greater pool of technical employees from which to hire.

The Northwest may fill that bill, he said. Maine, said Peters, "does not have the technical backbone that's needed, starting at the educational level."

So he's prepared to go where ePaddler.com can thrive. "Why stop it?" he asked.

Briefly

Farmhouse destroyed in fire

RUMFORD—A 6 a.m. fire destroyed an old farmhouse on the East Andover Road Wednesday. Owner Burton deFrees reported the fire, which started on the porch and spread quickly into the house, according to Ken Dayon, deputy fire chief for the Rumford Fire Department. The deFrees escaped without injury. Dayon said it appeared the fire was electrical in origin. A barn and garage near the house were undamaged. Firefighters and equipment from Andover, Bethel, Newry, Mexico, Dixfield and Peru aided in battling the fire.

Rain causes damage

PARIS—A preliminary damage assessment showed Oxford County sustained approximately $295,000 in damages from heavy rains in late March and early April. Estimates for Bethel area towns were: Andover, $16,000; Bethel, $7,000; Gilead, $14,000; Greenwood, $20,300; Upton, $2,000 and Woodstock, $7,000. The estimates were done by the Oxford County Emergency Management Agency and FEMA. The Maine Emergency Management Agency is now in the process of requesting federal assistance through Gov. Angus King. If approved, federal funds would pay 75 percent, state 15 percent and the individual municipalities 10 percent to repair the damages.

Help with the Bicentennial

NEWRY—Newry is seeking volunteers to serve on the Town Celebration Committee. The committee will plan events, compile history and do other projects in preparation for the 2005 Bicentennial celebration. The first meeting will take place May 10 at 7 p.m. at the Town Office. Volunteers will brainstorm project ideas.

Moses Mason House in "Yankee"

BETHEL—Bethel Historical Society's Dr. Moses Mason House Museum is featured as an "Editor's Pick" in the 2000 "Yankee Magazine's Travel Guide to New England." The Dr. Moses Mason House, dating from 1813, was included among regional restaurants, lodging, attractions, museums, and shops that, according to the travel experts of the guidebook, are not to be missed. "We are delighted to select the Dr. Moses Mason House as one of this year's 'Editor's Picks,'" said Mel Allen, editor of the 2000 guidebook. "With so many unique and diverse places to choose from, we felt the Dr. Mason House is especially worthy of a traveler's stop," he added.

Local businesses support fund

BETHEL—Three Bethel businesses—Books 'n Things, The Good Food Store and the Wild Rose—are joining 50 others statewide in promoting the Maine Women's Fund for Mother's Day. Each business finds a unique way to honor women and promote a statewide organization by donating a portion of sales on their entire stock, or featuring a particular product, for a day, a week or up to several months. The fund supports initiatives that promote equality and justice for women and girls in Maine.

Agnes Gray gets $613,000

WEST PARIS—The Agnes Gray School is one of six in Maine that will share a $4.7-million federal grant. The elementary school will receive $613,000 over the next two years through the Reading Excellence Act. The school will be able to offer a reading program that will provide professional development for staff with the goal of having all children able to read by third grade, expand the number of high-quality family literacy programs and provide early intervention for children at risk in reading.

Transit committee receives award

An old six-inch water main will be replaced with a new 10-inch main to meet the needs of the West Paris Water District.

Bahre faces lawsuit

PORLTAND—Current and former owners of Oxford Plains Speedway are suing NASCAR and Bob Bahre, owner of the New Hampshire International Speedway, alleging unfair competition in the stock car racing industry. The 14-count suit, filed Friday in U.S. District Court in Portland, says Bahre promoted events taking place at his New Hampshire speedway in Maine, despite an agreement not to compete with Oxford Plains Speedway. The suit, filed by Michael Liberty of Gray and his partners, also accuses Bahre and high-level NASCAR officials of breaking a promise to bring NASCAR-sanctioned racing back to Oxford Plains after a three-year break. The suit accuses Bahre and NASCAR of violating antitrust laws, racketeering, fraud, conspiracy and breach of contract, among other activities. An attorney representing the plaintiffs said they are asking for compensatory and punitive damages, although no amount was specified. Bahre said Sunday he was surprised by the action. Bahre had sold the track to Liberty in 1986, and then bought the Loudon, N.H. track in 1989. Liberty sold his majority interest in the track to William Ryan Jr. in 1998.

Association receives award

BRIDGTON—The Lakes Environmental Association was one of six organizations or individuals from Maine honored by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency recently for their contributions to the environment. The Environmental Merit Award is presented for particular ingenuity and commitment in efforts to preserve the environment. The LEA has provided water quality monitoring, technical assistance and watershed management education to towns in the Sebago-Long Lakes region for 30 years. Its programs include the "Clean Lakes Check-Up," for property owners who need help with storm water runoff and erosion problems, a "Hotspots" watershed computer model for identifying and estimating nutrient loadings to lakes, and the "Camp Roads Survey" program to identify road erosion problems.

Lifetime license program expanded

AUGUSTA—Gov. Angus King last week signed into law a provision making lifetime fishing and hunting licenses available for a new group of residents—those aged 6-15. The law will take effect Jan. 1, 2001. King also signed a change in a law, effective immediately, that will affect those aged 65-69 who want to purchase a lifetime license. The senior residents may now buy a license on a graduated payment scale. A 65-year-old, for example, can purchase a license for $50, a 66-year-old for $40, and so on. A 69-year-old can purchase a license for $10. Those 70 and over can receive a complimentary license. Applications are available from license agents and on the Internet at www.state.me.us/fmw.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Shots, rollovers and parties

At 11:28 p.m. on April 20 police were asked to back up a state trooper for a shots fired complaint on Route 35. On arrival the officer spoke with the complainant, who said it sounded like the shots had come from a neighboring home. The officer spoke with that resident, who said he had heard nothing. There were no further problems.

Saturday, April 22

At 8 a.m. a subject was involved in a rollover on Route 232. A subsequent investigation revealed his Massachusetts license was under suspension. Steven A. Christman, 40, of Oxford was summonsed for operating without a license.

Sunday, April 23

At 3:30 a.m. police received a complaint of a party with vehicles racing on Paradise Road. The officer located the party and issued a warning. The subjects agreed to quiet down and the officer cleared.

But with the home field now usable, Casey and his team are working hard to catch up.

Softball

Defense — specifically pitching and outfield play — should be the strength of the 2000 Telstar softball team, says coach Jim Miclon.

The pitching comes with plenty of experience, in the form of returning starters Sara Papaik and Jen Walker, both seniors. The outfield is strong despite the fact the current players are first-timers on the varsity team. The fielders include senior Katrine Burgi (left field), junior Melissa Bailey (center field) and freshman Katy Swasey (center field). Experience should eventually take the field, however, when senior outfielder Amy Hebert, out with an injury early in the season, returns. Hebert also plays catcher and serves as the Rebels' leadoff hitter.

Miclon's biggest concern with the defense so far, he said, is making sure the team has the answer to the question, "Where's the ball go when it comes to me?" They had all the answers last Friday, in notching a 2-1 win over Livermore Falls, a team ranked higher than Telstar in preseason predictions. Papaik struck out six to get the victory.

Other starters on this year's squad are senior Jen Fyrberg (first base); juniors Denise Scotti (catcher), Linsey Brown (third base) and sophomore Amanda Miclon (second base). Rounding out the team are senior Lacy Hebert (outfield), junior Kristen Pitcher (infield, pinch runner), sophomore Bekah Swan (first base, pitcher) and freshman manager Rachel Monk.

The squad has an interesting geographic makeup, with six of the players coming from Andover. "They've played lot together," said Miclon. The rest of the team has also played summer softball as a group. "We have two batches of kids who have played together a long time," he said.

Miclon thinks the "batches" will fuse to form a squad that can equal or better last year's record of 6-10 and a run into the second round of the playoffs. The girls started slowly in the preseason, but he thinks the Livermore effort is a good sign of the team's potential. "We have all our heads screwed on tight," he said.

Track

The Telstar boys' track team has four seniors, no juniors — and 20 sophomores and freshmen. It's enough to make coach John Applin, who will retire as a teacher this spring, come back and coach another year.

And that's what he plans to do. "Experience and maturity are a year away," Applin says of his young squad.

As for this season, he's focusing on the numbers. "They're a lot deeper than last year," he said, when the team had only 11 boys.

Applin sees the high jump as being a potentially strong event. "We have high jumpers coming out of our ears," he said.

Senior jumper Jon Shaw, who has consistently qualified for regional competition each season, should lead the way. There are several potential successors in brothers Francesco and Carlo Gaura and Jared Howe. They have been jumping in the 5-foot, 8-inch range, said Applin — what he considers to be the cutoff height range separating good jumpers from average ones. "These guys are all young — it depends on how hard they want to work," said Applin.

The other three seniors on Applin's team are Colin Reuter, Per Sandstrom and Chris Szente. This is their first year of track. Reuter, an accomplished cross-country skier, will likely be a distance runner. Sandstrom has been trying out the javelin and doing some high jumping as well, said Applin, while Szente does the shot put.

Sophomores on the team, and their likely events, include: Braden Douglass (weights), Joel Doyon (distance and long relay), Jay Hanscom (weights), David Ojeda (discus, shot put, sprints), Sherwood Pingree (javelin, jumps), Ben Sabin (long and triple jumps, middle distance, long relay), Mike Sabin (long and triple jumps, middle distance, long relay), Mark Tanguay (weights, javelin), Bryan Wilson (distance), Howe (high jump, distance) and Francesco Gaura (high jump).

Freshmen are Fred Bailey (distance and triple jumps, middle distance), Sadie Cole (middle distance), Sarah Gamble (high jump, javelin) and Heather Zimmerman (distance).

"We'll probably be fairly strong in all three jumps," said Applin.

Distances could also be solid, he said. Willard qualified for the state meet last year. Hurdles are more of a question mark, but could be good because both Walker and Farnum are experienced, he said.

More maturity is needed in the weights department, but Applin said he is pleased with the girls' efforts so far.

This may be old news, as I received it while in the hospital. On Sunday, April 2, Annie Cushman gave her baby brother-to-be a small party. Annie is the 3-year-old daughter of Matt and Nancy Cushman. Her cousin, Kayla Cushman, 6 years old, helped open the gifts. I understand her baby brother has arrived since I received this. Congratulations.

You may see a standard French poodle walking the streets with his owner, Marcia O'Neil. He is a new member to the O'Neil family and his name is Sammy.

The Cushman Road pond and you will see Canada geese, mallards and domestic geese. That's a good sign of spring.

Sarah, Patty and Gary Caret's daughter, was on the dean's list first term at Wheaton College. She will attend Emerson College graduate school the end of May to study marketing communications.

Tom and Diane Gaudreau have started a new home on Route 232. The foundation is finished and the shell has been built and closed in.

Thanks to my daughter for writing my news for me last week.

Patch the Pirate Club meets each Wednesday along with Little Adventurers at 6:30 p.m. at the Baptist Church. Prayer meetings are held at the same time. The quarterly business meeting was held on Tuesday. On May 3, Missionary Bill Edmondson will be speaker at the prayer meeting. May 13 is Spring Cleaning at the church at 8 a.m. On May 17 the Men's Ensemble from Northeast Baptist School of Theology of Downington, Pa., will be at the Baptist Church with Dr. Richard Bish preaching.

Franklin Grange 124 met on Monday evening, April 17, for Community Service Award Night with an open house. Annie Crockett was presented the Community Service Award at her home after the meeting. The program was opening song; award to Annie Crockett and 50-year certificate to Peggy Blake; juniorettes and majorettes from West Paris with several little girls;

Dave Tripp of the DARE program spoke and teddy bears were donated to him for tots who need them and also teddy bears were donated to Tri Town Ambulance member Annella Burnham for tots or adults; piano solos by Joey and Brian Arsenault, ages 5 and 10; music by the Felt Band and the Arsenault boys played with them; closing thought. The next meeting is May 1 for inspection and Mother's Day program.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, May 4, at the Grange Hall. The meeting starts at 11:30 a.m. with dinner at noon put on by the Grange. The program is a speaker.

Curator Larry Billings observes that with the buildings and exhibits, both the town and the historical society are preserving Woodstock as a remarkably historic community, now. Also the Pinhook Meeting House, Dreamhome and the Conservation School are maintained by other people and are very historic along with the Grange and several store buildings, not to mention private homes. Curator Billings recently told an official in Augusta he considered Woodstock the typical New England village and she responded immediately, "I couldn't agree with you more; it's a lovely example of a New England community." So even in Augusta our town is highly regarded as a fine place to live. The historical society does still have an Internet site. The address is posted in the museum. This is one of the many services of the society.

Yesterday I went outside and with my walker walked a little. It was good to look around.

The landscape had turned one of the great corners of the year. Now the world is out of chains, and one can see in nature, liberated motion which is the seal of summer.

The wind rushed before me down the pond. Once more the cat paws of wind formed twinklings on the surface; lingered there a strange moment, then were gone. A whole new pattern of light and wonder which has become a part of life. There was something else. What was it? Suddenly I had the answer; it was the smell of fresh water, the pond smell, touching a familiar chord of country memory.

Again and again I heard the jays screaming. As yet there is no touch of spring in its note. It is the familiar harsh call and nothing more. Yet to me, it is music shared.

Squirrels on the ground near by, frisking, their tails twitching, heads lowered were playing. Jays and squirrels, red fur and blue feathers all in company, were gathered together on the ground.

Tonight under a faintly hazy sky and through a light wind one can feel but not hear the winter flowing downhill. The colored twigs are at last awake. Sudden and cold the liberated earth rises from the long sleep and imprisonment of winter.

April is saying, "Nice weather overhead."

I have had many nice visitors, all of whom have brought me joy.

I know very little for news but I'm getting better. It seems very slow to me.

I much appreciated my letters and cards. I have a special book in which I put them. There I can easily look at them. I always look for more.

I did think I could get my news in last week, but by the time life's little setbacks stopped happening it was too late to get it written and up to Bethel before the deadline. I had an appointment in Rumford at 1 p.m. I needed to get ready for. So, of course, the phone rang the minute I stepped into the shower. By the time I had thrown something on and located the walk-around, the answering machine had already come on and, of course, no one was there. This TAD works well but it only lets the phone ring four times at the most, which is really not long enough if the phone is two rooms away. I need to make a papoose board for my phone so I can carry it on my back -- only probably I would forget it was there and would be frantically running around the house trying to locate the source of the ringing. I would like to think it really wouldn't happen but I've been known to be looking for something and have it in the pocketbook I'm carrying from place to place, so I guess anything can happen. One just hopes it doesn't. Anyhow, all these little things can use up an extraordinarily length of time I've found out. How I admire the well-organized woman, but I can't even spell it, much less be it; so I guess I will have to be satisfied with what I do have. However, it never hurts to try so I read a lot of books on it -- something might rub off.

Last week, Thursday found us at Lewiston where Andy had an appointment with his gastroenterologist. I can't believe I can spell that and still stumble over whether organize is spelled with an "a" and "i" or two "i's". Memory can be a funny thing in our sixth decade and one can take that "funny" either as amusing or odd, or both. Anyhow, after that we went to Fred and Ellie Peterson's for lunch and a visit and then went over to Fritz and Norma's to see them. Norma has been battling an ear infection. The poor woman has had more than her share of problems this past year. She gave us a sample of Swedish fruit soup, which was quite tasty and makes a good dessert for us people who are battling the high blood sugar.

When we got home I had a message from Debbie Brown that Owen's mother had fallen and broken a bone so was in the hospital and that Albert Smith was down to Stephens Memorial Hospital, also. I hope by the time you read this they are both doing nicely. Our spirits may stay young but, alas, our bodies don't.

We have seen birds with white bodies and dark heads, obviously some kind of duck, swimming in the pond but none of my waterfowl books have that one mentioned. If anyone knows what kind they are, I'd like to know. We also saw a heron catch a fish in the pond back of our house. And I saw our first loon of the season. They say loons are good indicators that spring has arrived. We can handle that.

Dwight Mills called me to let me know his mother, Mary, has returned home from the Ledgerview Living Center and is doing well. He also said that his brother, Blaine, who was in an automobile accident about three weeks ago is still undergoing tests but otherwise is doing well, which is good news indeed.

Andy and I spent Easter with his cousins, Fred and Ellie Peterson in Lewiston. His Aunt Norma had to have a biopsy Friday as she has swelling back of her ears. Hopefully the results will be non-threatening and will help in her treatment. She has had a lot of problems this past year and she seems pretty frail. It is a good thing she is stronger than she looks.

Ice out on Umbagog occurred Friday April 21. There aren't any fishermen out there yet due to snow, rain and generally miserable weather. Saturday morning we woke up to a carpet of the "white stuff." The green grass was doing its best to poke through. Oh well, we know the snow is just "poor man's fertilizer" and time will eventually bring us some warm weather. Every year we get into a snit over April's disappointing weather.

The deer have vacated the area but moose are on the loose. Caution on the road is the name of the game. Buzz and Chris Connely found this out the hard way. They had a collision with their brand new truck with a moose in Magalloway. The moose left many ticks spread over the truck. Buzz and Chris were not injured to my knowledge, but the moose expired.

Smelt season is in full swing. From what I hear there are more smelters than smelts.

Fred Bilodeau has purchased a new pontoon boat. It's a beauty. He bought it at the Sport Center in Errol. I'm having a hard time keeping my other half in check. When he sees the boat there is visible drool.

We have a birth announcement. Sue Angevine's "Drop Kitty" delivered three little guys on April 5. Sue says she will not part with them. Richard, her husband, says she is running a regular "cat house".

Easter Sunday has come and gone. The Casey family headed down to Massachusetts to visit with a brother and sisters. Caitlyn and Jessica were all decked out in their first Easter outfit.

Sue and Richard Angevine entertained family and held an Easter Egg Hunt.

Evelyn and Jim Kenney spent Easter with family. They also had an Easter Egg Hunt and a fine Easter dinner.

Easter Sunday was my birthday. I turned 39 again this year. Thank you to all my friends for their thoughtful cards. I tried to get Richard to take me to Captain Nericks for a "free" meal. He waved it off saying nothing's free, but went anyway. It was very good (and free).

The "Bird of the Week" is the "peep." This is a small, yellow marshmallow bird. While it is not a game bird, it is eaten in quantity on Easter Sunday.

Quite a week. Rain and near floods were everywhere. The backyard ponds are visible where ever I look. But I also know it is spring because I can hear the peepers at night and the trees along my route have red buds. Sometime in the not-so-near future they will become leaves. Meanwhile, we witness snow.

It is amazing in the spring to wake up to the ground covered in white. This time it actually lasted the day. Now the fields are green and the grass has begun to grow.

The other night it was warm and we stood outside to watch the fireworks through the trees. They go off twice a week, for now. The sounds echo off Mount Will. The colors fill the night sky and seem to rain down upon the earth.

By now, I trust that the Easter party went off well. For the future, we can look forward to Saturday, May 6. From 7 to 10 p.m. there is a Contra Dance at Locke Mills Town Hall, sponsored by the Mothers' Club and Newry Recreation Committee. The PB and J Band will play. They will teach and call dances. All ages usually enjoy these dances.

Remember that on Thursday, April 27, 7 to 9 p.m. at Cafe DiCocca, Bethel Area Poets Society will host a poetry reading. I will be reading poems by our new Maine Poet Laureate, Baron Wormser. Come and read, listen or just enjoy. All are welcome.

The Way I See It

Nothing gets a woman off to a better start in the morning than a "Good Hair Day."

I'm quite serious about this. How a woman's hair looks plays a very important role in how her day will go. This is not nearly as shallow or trite as some of you men may be thinking. A woman's hair is her most important visual feature. No matter what other physical attributes a woman may or may not have, her hair is the first thing to be noticed. Therefore, how her hair looks effects her whole personality.

I'll use myself as an example. When I get up in the morning I am not what you would call a pretty sight. I'm not into frilly silky nightgowns, I'm into comfort. So you'll find me in sweat pants or long johns, a sweatshirt, and if it's really cold, a flannel nightgown over the sweat pants. No matter how much time I may have spent removing my make-up before I went to bed, there always seems to be black mascara smudges under my eye giving me a raccoon look - a tired raccoon look.

And my hair is flat to my head on one side, sticking out on the other and straight up on top. It's enough to make a person want to go back to bed.

I suppose there are some women that get out of bed in the morning bright eyed and with every hair in place. I'm not one of them and I don't know any women who are either.

If you can picture what I look like first thing in the morning (I feel sorry for you) you can understand how crucial the transformation to making myself look like a real person is.

Putting on clothes and make-up is the easy part.

I don't think it's fair that men should have it so easy.

But the hair requires effort. There is shampooing, mousse, blow drying, curling, picking and brushing. Sometimes it all comes together - a good hair day and sometimes it doesn't - a bad hair day.

This I can't understand. It's the same hair on the same head. I do the same procedure every morning. So why doesn't it always come out the same? And why are most of my good hair days on days when I'll be home all day doing housework?

Even if I'm not going anywhere, if my hair looks good, I feel good and everything seems to be good. On a bad hair day - watch out!

I know I'm having a bad hair day when I start cutting off the strands that don't do what they should. From that point on nothing goes right. My clothes won't hang right or something I wore just a week ago will be too tight. I won't be able to find my shoes. My pantyhose will run. I'll put a panty liner on upside-down. I'll be out of coffee or milk or both and if I'm not out of either I'll spill coffee on the only clean clothes I have that fit. And this is before I get out of the door.

On a good hair day, it doesn't matter what I wear, everything looks good. My shoes are right where they belong. Coffee tastes great. The sun will shine and life is wonderful.

On a bad hair day there's a good chance that the car won't start and it will probably rain or snow. And people relate to you differently when your hair isn't working right. It's as if they think that since you look like a hair brain they might as well treat you like one. Nothing seems to go right and eventually you'll start taking out your frustrations on others and the next thing you know, as well as your hair making you look like a witch, you start acting like one too.

I have a friend who is controlled by her hair days more than anyone I know. On good hair days, this friend is Miss Mary Sunshine. Not only does she have a bright and sunny disposition, her energy level is up and she exudes self-confidence. Right after a trip to the beauty parlor, this woman could take on the whole world.

On a bad hair day, she turns into a paranoid neurotic that can't find a single good thing about herself and she thinks the whole world is out to get her. She just wants to run and hide her miserable head away. She is an extreme, but most women have felt like this because of their hair.

Men, on the other hand don't seem to have bad hair days or for that matter, good hair days either. I don't think they give their hair much thought. I realize that compared to women, they don't have to consider styles and most men wear their hair the same way all their lives. Boring as it is, it does make life a lot easier for them. That's just one more of those little injustices that women have to deal with.

I don't think it's fair that men should have it so easy. They should at least have to suffer a bad beard day now and then or have a day when their mustache gets out of control.

Maybe we would all be better off if we just shaved our heads. That would certainly equalize things a little and eliminate good and bad hair day all together. But, then I'm sure there would be bad bald days when our domes shine like the sun on the bumper of a 1958 Desoto.

No matter what we do with our hair, the way I see it, there will always be some pretty hairy days.

I was very sorry to hear about the automobile accident involving Joseph and Carol Stowell of the Andrews Road here in South Woodstock. Hopefully they'll soon be home and on the mend. We wish them well.

Todd Poland has been very sick in a hospital in Florida. His family was on a spring vacation there when he was taken sick. I heard he is some better and will hopefully be returning home to Maine shortly.

The selectmen of Woodstock will be meeting at the Union Church on May 2 around 4 to 4:30 p.m. to look over the church and make some decisions. If any Willing Workers would like to join them, they are welcome to do so.

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports that the museum has a Hudson River School painting in its collections. Mr. Billings has given some more prints to the museum also. He attended the oyster stew supper at the West Paris Historical Society recently. The society will be open for the summer Saturday afternoons beginning in June.

I made a grievous omission in last week's column. I failed to mention that Mona has become a great-grandmother, which means that, by extension, I became a step-great-granddad. Mona's granddaughter, Monica, gave birth to a 6 pound, 11 ounce Boston Michael York on April 13 at the hospital in Lancaster, N.H. I'm told the blessed event took place in a birthing room where the boy's father, Travis; Monica's mom, Jane Ryerson; Aunt Katrina; and sister, Carrie, all accompanied and assisted in various roles. I cannot repeat what Katrina said about the birthing process. The new mom and baby are doing well, and he is a cute little cuss.

I recently learned of the following story, which was repeated to me by an unnamed source, not Brother Rupert. A few years ago, in the '70s, I think, Don Alyward, Rupert's son-in-law, was raising turkeys at his place on the other side of the swimmin' hole. He tried this several years in a row, until he got to figuring that his labor was worth only about 12½ cents an hour as a turkey farmer, and quit. But, one year Don had one young gobbler turkey that was so low on

Dave Mallett to perform here

On Saturday, April 29, Dave Mallett will perform in concert at 7 p.m. in Bingham Auditorium at Gould Academy. The performance is sponsored by the Mahoosuc Arts Council.

Mallett keeps an old tintype of his great, great grandfather hanging on the wall of his writing room. He surrounds himself with ancestry: old books, old boats, cards, guitars and records, remnants of days gone by and stories still to be told. He is a musician whose future remains deeply rooted in the past.

That is why Mallett returned home to his native Sebec, Maine in 1995, after a nine-year stint in Nashville, Tennessee. Mallett may hail from a small town in Maine but his music has quietly reached every corner of the world.

Mallett performs solo, with guitar, voice and harmonica, although sometimes he is joined by other musicians. The opening act for Mallett will be Amy Green, a Telstar High School student from Andover, winner of the Council's Mountain Jam competition for local musicians which was held on April 8.

Mallett's catalog of more than 300 songs is based on a lifetime of experience. He writes songs in the language he learned in his native Maine - down-to-earth and country. He began singing at age ten, performing with his brother at country fairs and grange halls throughout the northeast. In his college years, he discovered his true passion as a songwriter and his skills caught the attention of Noel Paul Stookey (of Peter, Paul & Mary fame), who was one of the first to realize Mallett's special talent lies not only in his soothing delivery but in his astute, natural storytelling.

In 1978, Mallett recorded his first album of original material, but it wasn't until John Denver recorded "Garden Song" that his career began to take off. His songs have been recorded by hundreds of other singers, including Pete Seeger, Emmylou Harris, Peter, Paul & Mary, Arlo Guthrie and even the Muppets.

Over the years, he has performed at such diverse venues as The Barns of Wolf Trap, Newport Folk Festival, Garrison Keillor's "Prairie Home Companion", and town halls and folk clubs across America. He has gathered the respect of his peers, critical acclaim, and a devoted audience throughout the U.S., Canada and Europe.

Advance tickets are $10, adults and $5, students and are available at the Big Apple in Bethel or call 824-3575 for ticket reservations.

of Southern Maine, and the University of Maine at Farmington. Dr. Beam's professional activities include service as president of the Society of Maine Archivists (now Maine Archives and Museums) and the New England Archivists. One of his professional interests is fostering the use of archival resources by secondary school students and undergraduates to promote a keener awareness of the importance of archival repositories.

Edmund S. Muskie, a native of Rumford, served in the Maine Legislature, as Maine governor, U.S. Senator from Maine, and Secretary of State in the Carter Administration.

The meeting is open to everyone interested and there is no admission charge.

Prior to the lecture, the 2000 Bethel Historical Society Historic Preservation Awards will be announced and presented to the recipients.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark and Gil Seeley were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week to do some bowling for fun. It was a tight game all around. On the first string, Betsy was high with a string of 96, beating Karlene by 10 pins and Gil by 13 pins. On the second string, Karlene was high with a string of 92, beating Gil by seven pins. On the third string, Karlene was high again with a string of 98, beating Gil by four pins. So on the overall scores, Karlene was high on the singles and triples. She had five spares, Gil two strikes and two spares. Betsy had one spare. It was a tough fight all around, ha! They went to lunch and did some shopping.

High School Baseball

Livermore Falls 7, Telstar 3; April 21—Telstar's Kaleb Durgin had a home run and Greg Koch a double in a loss to Livermore Falls.

Gould 9, Telstar 7; April 19—After cross-town rival Telstar jumped out to a three-run first inning lead, Gould came mashing back, as seven different players crossed the plate in the bottom of the inning for a 7-3 advantage. Eric Cheney, Patrick Donovan and Emmett All had hits in the comeback, with Emmett's two-out double driving in three runs. After the first inning, things settled down as Patrick Donovan pitched a gutsy complete game, keeping the Rebels off balance by changing speeds, while receiving great support as his teammates played errorless ball. Some of the great defense was provided by Emmett Donovan in centerfield, tracking down everything hit in his direction, and Keegan Burke behind the plate, blocking numerous curve balls in the dirt and calling a great game. John Lynch continued his hot hitting with two more hits, one a double, and Eric Cheney also finished with a pair of hits. — coach Chris Olson

High School Softball

Gould 19, Hebron 18; April 24—The Gould softball team was victorious over Hebron, overtaking the Lady Lumberjacks in the bottom of the seventh inning for the win. Everyone contributed to the offense in the come-from-behind victory, with Adora Burke smashing a two-run homer in the fifth. Juliana Montgomery had the game-winning hit, a line drive down the first base line. Pitchers Burke and Courtney Amadon combined for the win, the Huskies' second of the season over rival Hebron. Gould's season record now stands at 3-1.

Telstar 2, Livermore Falls 1; April 21—Telstar's Katrine Burgi had a double and pitcher Sara Papaik struck out six in a win over Livermore Falls.

Middle School Softball

Telstar 38, Peru 4; April 25—The TMS softball team came out swinging hard in their first softball game of the season as they defeated Peru. Ashley Stambolis and Kayla Mills went four-for-four at bat, with a home run each. Other hitting standouts for the day were Meagan Lunney, Liz Rosenberg, Krystle Gould, and Crystal Mills. Jennie Cox pitched an excellent game as she struck out seven batters in four innings. Mills pitched the last inning and struck out two batters to end the game. — coach Karen Rosenberg

Gould 9, Hebron 9, April 19—Gould's Angus Graham scored four goals and Orlin Watson added two. Tristan Fischer, Burt Boyer, and Bob Bruce rounded out the scoring with one goal each, and Zeke Davission picked up an assist. Bridgton Academy 3, Gould 2; April 19—Gould's Chuck Butler won the second singles match, 8-4, and Sean Quinlan and Ian Beeukes won the second doubles, 8-5.

Gould 4, Kent's Hill 1; April 17—Gould's Matt Linn and Chuck Butler won their singles matches in three sets, and Will Schmitt defeated his Kent's Hill opponent in two sets. Tyler Katzenberg and Ben Godsoe won their doubles matches in two sets.

Girls' Varsity Tennis

Gould 3, Hebron 2; April 20—The Gould tennis team made the quick ride over to Hebron Academy for an afternoon match. Although the weather forecast was poor, the sun continued to shine as the Gould team won the match. Sara Zvonkovic and Robin Chace easily beat their singles opponents and the doubles team of Ali and Meghan McClure dominated their match. Katherine Nichols and Janet Park won their second set to force a third, but could not continue their comeback run. Caitlin McLaughlin was unable to generate enough power due to a sore shoulder and could not score against her opponent. She is looking forward to a rematch in May. — coach Gareth Kucinkas

Win 'Christine' in a raffle

Stellart Middle School students built this go-kart under the guidance of volunteer Richard Duplessis. The boys assembled the engine, clutch and brakes in addition to putting together the body of the kart. It will now be raffled off to help pay for the cost of the project. Three hundred tickets will be sold at $5 each. After tickets are sold at the school, they will also be available at locations in Bethel Village or through Rebecca Zicarelli (824-4557). The project recently received a surprise donation of $300 from the Stephen and Tabitha King Foundation. Zicarelli had written to the foundation requesting a $600 grant, but found an application needed to be submitted and the deadline was too close to complete it in time. Then, last week, the donation appeared in the mail. It will be applied toward next year's kart project. Donations to the project are tax deductible. The students said they plan to name the car 'Christine', after the 1958 Plymouth Fury featured in Stephen King's novel of the same name. Pictured here are: TMS assistant principal Sally Hannon (in kart); (second row) Eddie Witt, Ryan Trefethen, Zach Eichenberger, Andrew Farrington, Josh Withey; (third row) Brock Merrill, Chris Duplessis, Richard Duplessis. From the

Oxford Pomona Grange

The April meeting of Oxford Pomona was hosted by Rumford Grange at their hall in Rumford Center. The 7:30 p.m. meeting followed a delicious supper at 6:30.

As this was CWA (Committee on Women's Activities) night, Pomona CWA chairman, Jean Griffin, was in charge of obtaining officers for the evening and arranging the literary program. There were guests from Androscoggin, Cumberland-Oxford Union and York Pomona, as well as three from Northern New Hampshire Pomona. Seven Granges in Oxford Pomona were represented and Rumford Grange kept their hold on the attendance banner.

For the program all sang "April Showers," then Bunny Easter read a poem about "April Fool." Dot Canwell, Richard Felt, Gerald Easter and Lucy Ridley gave us the instrumental music while everyone sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "I Want a Girl." Gordon and Gloria Abbott got a good laugh with their skit about a current event — the Census. Six members shared the mystery packages. Of the 31 members present, 15 were past or present members of their respective CWA committees.

The next meeting of Oxford Pomona is scheduled for May 2 at Bear Mountain Grange 298 in South Waterford, where there will be a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper. This will be "Nostalgia Night." Also, all those who won this year's cooking contest in their own Granges are to bring their bars to this meeting for judging at the Pomona level.

From the

Jackson-Silver
Auxiliary

In recent weeks the Jackson-Silver American Legion Auxiliary Unit has contributed to the Town Rescue for their defibrillator fund and realized a profit of $305 from the April 1 supper/dance to benefit the Legion Baseball program.

At their meeting on April 20, officers for the coming year were elected. There will be an installation of both the Post and Auxiliary on May 18. Also, Candice Ward was chosen to be this year's Miss Poppy, and she will be assisting Vera Cross, poppy chairman, in distributing poppies.

Another "Musical Supper" is planned for May 9 at 5:30 p.m., followed by dancing to the music of the Richard Felt Band. The main dish will be chicken pie with all the appropriate accompaniments.

It was also voted that, beginning in May, the meeting on the first Thursday of each month will be preceded by a 6 p.m. potluck supper. Members of the Post are invited to participate. This next meeting is May 4.

Six members of this Unit attended the Oxford County Council meeting at Bethel on April 18 and two of them were installed into office. Three reported having attended the meeting of the Elizabeth Manning Past President's Parley earlier in the day on Thursday at Maurice's in South Paris.

LT. COL. GROVER HONORED

While attending the CAP Maine Wing Conference in Bangor, April 14 through 16, Lt. Col. Richard L. Grover, Maine Wing Logistics Officer, received two awards. He was awarded the Commander's Commendation and Wing Staff Member of the Year awards.

The Commander's Commendation Award is presented for outstanding duty performance where achievements and services are clearly and unmistakably exceptional when compared to similar achievements and services of members of like rank and responsibility. This is reserved for those who go well "above and beyond."

Lt. Col. Richard L. Grover, as Logistics Officer, took command, reconciled inventory, surveyed audit, frequently traveled to Augusta with his wife to work in a cold hangar, mastered computerized database, traveled to squadrons to inspect and instruct.

Maine Wing Annual Awards are presented to deserving individuals and units. Nominees in each category are made based on inputs received from every member of the wing and by the squadron commanders. These awards are earned and are voted upon by a committee.

The recipient's name is engraved on perpetual plaques that hang on the front wall at wing headquarters.

Additionally, the recipients receive a plaque that they can keep to show how important these awards truly are.

The selection of the Wing Staff Member of the Year is made to signify a person working at the wing level who can best exemplify leadership, professionalism and excellence.

The presentation was made by Lt. Col. Donald Littlefield.

In Memory of George A. Crockett
April 16, 1905 - Dec. 23, 1993

God saw you getting tired, no cure was to be. So he put his arms around you and said follow me. We watched you fade away. We loved you so, if love could have saved you, we'd still have you here with us.

We miss you so Dad, but we know you're not in pain anymore. We still have you in our hearts, 'till we meet again, we love you.

Your children
